PANCAKES FOR EDUCATION

Belmar Optimists and Whole Foods Market Team Up for Alameda High School

LAKESWOOD, Colo. (May 3, 2007)—The Belmar Optimist Club and Whole Foods Market are teaming up to flip pancakes in order to raise funds for Alameda High School. The Optimists and students from Alameda High School will be cooking a pancake breakfast every Sunday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at The Market at Belmar on West Alaska Drive at Belmar (Wadsworth and Alameda). The Market starts June 3 and runs until September 30 (except September 16).

The cost for the breakfast is $5. Whole Foods Market at Belmar is donating its 365 Pancake mix, syrup, and toppings, so all of the proceeds will benefit the school.

“We are delighted to team up with Whole Foods and Belmar in order to raise funds for Alameda High School,” said Peter Shlagor, president of the Belmar Optimist Club. “The school is in such desperate need of funds, we need to do everything possible to support them.”

In addition to the pancake breakfast, The Market at Belmar sells fruits and vegetables and has activities for the entire family including chef demonstrations, an urban gardening series, free and open bocce and cooking contests.
